1 TITLE II—NEW SANCTIONS AU-
2 THORITIES WITH RESPECT TO
3 IRANIAN BANKS

4 SEC. 201. FINDINGS.

5 Congress finds the following:

6 (1) On May 8, 2018, the President issued Na-
7 tional Security Presidential Memorandum 11 enti-
8 tled “Ceasing United States Participation in the 9 Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action and Taking Ad-
10 ditional Action to Counter Iran’s Malign Influence
11 and Deny Iran All Paths to a Nuclear Weapon”, 12 that—

13 (A) established that “it is in the national 14 interest of the United States to re-impose sanc-
15 tions lifted or waived in connection with the 16 JCPOA as expeditiously as possible”; and

17 (B) instructed the Secretary of State and 18 the Secretary of the Treasury to “immediately
19 begin taking steps to reimpose all United States
20 sanctions lifted or waived in connection with the 21 JCPOA, including those under the National De-
22 fense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012,
23 the Iran Sanctions Act of 1996, the Iran
24 Threat Reduction and Syria Human Rights Act

1 of 2012, and the Iran Freedom and Counter-
2 proliferation Act of 2012”.

3 (2) Section 1245(b) of the National Defense
4 Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012 (22 U.S.C.
5 8513a(b)) designated the financial sector of Iran, in-
6 cluding the Central Bank of Iran, as a jurisdiction
7 of primary money laundering concern for purposes
8 of section 5318A of title 31, United States Code, 9 “because of the threat to government and financial 10 institutions resulting from the illicit activities of the 11 Government of Iran, including its pursuit of nuclear 12 weapons, support for international terrorism, and ef-
13 forts to deceive responsible financial institutions and 14 evade sanctions”.

15 (3) Since October 2007, the Financial Action
16 Task Force, an intergovernmental organization that 17 sets standards and promotes implementation of 18 measures to combat money laundering, terrorist fi-
19 nancing, and related threats to the integrity of the 20 international financial system, identified Iran as pos-
21 ing a “significant vulnerability within the inter-22 national financial system” due to deficiencies in 23 Iran’s antimoney laundering efforts and efforts to 24 combat the financing of terrorism (collectively known 25 as Iran’s AML/CFT regime).

1 (4) On November 25, 2011, the Secretary of
2 the Treasury issued a finding under section 5318A
3 of title 31, United States Code, that reasonable
4 grounds exist for concluding that Iran is a jurisdic-
5 tion of primary money laundering concern.

6 (5) Since June 2016, the Financial Action Task
7 Force has “welcomed Iran’s high-level political com-
8 mitment to address its strategic AML/CFT defi-
9 ciencies, and its decision to seek technical assistance 10 in the implementation of the Action Plan”, but—

11 (A) on September 2, 2017, Iranian De-
12 fense Minister Amir Hatami stated that Iran
13 would increase its support for terrorist groups 14 such as Hezbollah, stating that “perhaps the 15 main fear of the arrogant powers about our re-16 lationship with the resistance axis is that they 17 do not want such a pattern to see the light of 18 day”;

19 (B) on October 8, 2018, the Iranian par-
20 liament approved a bill authorizing Iran to join 21 the International Convention for the Suppres-
22 sion of the Financing of Terrorism, but in-23 cluded exemptions for continued financing of 24 terror organizations such as Hamas and 25 Hezbollah; and

1 (C) on October 19, 2018, the Financial
2 Action Task Force issued a statement noting
3 that “Iran’s action plan expired in January
4 2018 . . . [and] the majority of the Action
5 Plan remains outstanding . . . Until Iran im-
6 plements the measures required to address the 7 deficiencies identified in the Action Plan, the 8 FATF will remain concerned with the terrorist 9 financing risk emanating from Iran and the 10 threat this poses to the international financial 11 system.”.

12 (6) On October 11, 2018, the Financial Crimes
13 Enforcement Network issued an advisory that 14 “Some of the methods used by the Iranian regime
15 to access the financial system through covert means
16 and to further its malign activities include misusing
17 banks and exchange houses, operating procurement
18 networks that utilize front or shell companies, ex-
19 ploiting commercial shipping, and masking illicit 20 transactions using senior officials . . . FinCEN ex-
21 pects that Iranian financial institutions, the Iranian 22 regime, and its officials will increase their efforts to 23 evade U.S. sanctions to fund malign activities and 24 secure hard currency for the Government of Iran,

1 following the re-imposition of sanctions lifted under
2 the JCPOA.”.

3 SEC. 202. ISSUANCE OF FINAL RULE REGARDING APPLICA-
4 TION OF SPECIAL MEASURES WITH RESPECT
5 TO IRAN IN CONNECTION WITH DESIGNATION
6 AS JURISDICTION OF PRIMARY MONEY LAUN-
7 DERING CONCERN.

8 Not later than 90 days after the date of the enact-
9 ment of this Act, the Secretary of the Treasury shall issue
10 a final rule pursuant to section 5318A of title 31, United 11 States Code, that—

12 (1) applies the measures described in paragraph 13 (5) of subsection (b) of that section with respect to 14 Iran; and

15 (2) applies such other measures described in 16 that subsection with respect to Iran as the Secretary
17 considers appropriate.

8 currency to try and sidestep our powerful sanc-
9 tions.”.

10 (2) In April 2018, the Minister of Information

15 and Investment at the Directorate for Scientific and 16 Technological Affairs of Iran stated that “We are 17 trying to prepare the grounds to use a domestic dig-
18 ital currency in the country . . . This currency
19 would facilitate the transfer of money (to and from) 20 anywhere in the world. Besides, it can help us at the 21 time of sanctions.”.
