

116TH CONGRESS 1ST SESSION

S. 2069

To assist prisoners of conscience in Burma, and for other purposes.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

July 10, 2019

Mr. Markey (for himself and Mrs. Blackburn) introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations

A BILL

To assist prisoners of conscience in Burma, and for other purposes.

- 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
- 2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
- 3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
- 4 This Act may be cited as the "Burma Political Pris-
- 5 oners Assistance Act".
- 6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
- 7 Congress makes the following findings:
- 8 (1) The United States has been a longstanding
- 9 friend and partner of the people of Burma, and has
- sought to promote their democratic aspirations.

- 1 (2) Despite a campaign pledge that Aung San
 2 Suu Kyi and the National League for Democracy
 3 (NLD) "would not arrest anyone as political pris4 oners," they have failed to fulfill this promise since
 5 they took control of Burma's Union Parliament and
 6 the government's executive branch in April 2016.
 - (3) As of March 1, 2019, there were 354 political prisoners in Burma, 43 of them serving sentences, 86 awaiting trial inside prison, and 225 awaiting trial outside prison according to the Assistance Association for Political Prisoners in Burma.
 - (4) During its 3 years in power, the NLD government has provided pardons for Burma's political prisoners on three occasions. State Counsellor Aung San Suu Kyi took steps to secure the release of nearly 235 political prisoners. On May 23, 2017, former President Htin Kyaw granted pardons to 259 prisoners, including 89 political prisoners. On April 17, 2018, current President Win Myint pardoned 8,541 prisoners, including 36 political prisoners.
 - (5) The Burmese security forces have historically and recently used a range of repressive laws to arrest and prosecute political prisoners and prisoners of conscience. These laws include provisions of the Penal Code, the Peaceful Assembly and Peaceful

- Procession Act, the 1908 Unlawful Associations Act, the 2013 Telecommunications Act, and the 1923 Official Secrets Act.
 - (6) On January 5, 2015, then-President Thein Sein announced the reconstitution of the "Scrutinizing Committee into the Prisoners of Conscience Affairs Committee", which was to comprise 28 members and which would "promptly [carry] out prisoners of conscience affairs at the grassroots level". However, it appears that the Committee never even met and no information has been made publicly available regarding its mandate, procedures, or activities. The lack of information and action appears to justify concerns that the Committee had been reconstituted merely to deflect growing national and international criticism, rather than to resolve the issue of remaining political prisoners.
 - (7) On December 12, 2017, Wa Lone and Kyaw Soe Oo, two Reuters reporters covering the crisis in Rakhine State, were entrapped, arrested, and charged with violating the Official Secrets Act, continuing a trend of restricting media and free speech and attempting to thwart coverage of the events in Rakhine State.

- 1 (8) On September 3, 2018, Wa Lone and Kyaw
 2 Soe Oo were convicted and sentenced to seven years
 3 in prison. After 18 months in prison, they were re4 leased from prison. On May 28, 2018, Wa Lone and
 5 Kyaw Soe Oo personally received the Pulitzer Prize
 6 that was awarded to them while they were impris7 oned.
 - (9) According to Burma free-speech organization Athan, 44 journalists and 142 activists have faced trial since 2016, charged with repressive laws used to stifle dissent at the same time restrictions on activist groups are being tightened. In the first three months of 2019, three Kachin activists were each sentenced to six months in prison in connection with peaceful anti-war protests, a protester against the Myitsone dam (a controversial Chinese backedhydropower project) was charged for peaceful demonstrations, and police used excessive force to crackdown on peaceful protesters in Kayah State, with some of the demonstrators charged under vaguely worded, repressive laws. One of the activists, Nang Pu, was released on April 1, 2019, on health grounds.
 - (10) On August 18, 2017, Aung Ko Htwe was arrested because he gave a media interview in which

- he described his experience as a child soldier, including how the military abducted and forcibly recruited him when he was 13 years old. He was charged under section 505(b) of Burma's Penal Code. He was subsequently sentenced to two years and six months in prison.

- 16 (2) POLITICAL PRISONER.—The term "political prisoner" applies to a person who has been detained or imprisoned on politically motivated grounds. Political prisoners may have used or advocated violence or hatred, or in some cases they may have committed some minor offense, which is a pretext for a politically motivated imprisonment.

- 24 It is the policy of the United States—

- 1 (1) to support Burma's democratic transition to 2 a democratic, peaceful, and prosperous state;

 - (3) to use all diplomatic tools to ensure that all prisoners of conscience and political prisoners in Burma are released; and
- 10 (4) to support and pressure the Government of 11 Burma in the repeal and amendment of all laws that 12 violate the rights to freedom of expression, peaceful 13 assembly, and association to ensure the laws de-14 scribed in section 2(5) comply with international 15 human rights standards.

- (1) the Government of Burma must immediately drop defamation charges against Lum Zawng and Zau Jet, two Kachin activists who led a peaceful rally in Mytkyina, the capital of Kachin State, whose crime is peacefully calling for humanitarian access to thousands of displaced civilians and for an end to the armed conflicts in northern Burma; and
- (2) the prosecution of these activists is an attempt by the Burmese authorities to intimidate, harass, and silence community leaders and human rights defenders who speak out about military abuses and the impact of civilian populations.

15 SEC. 8. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON PRESS FREEDOM.

- 16 It is the sense of Congress that—
- 17 (1) the Government of Burma must take steps 18 to significantly improve the climate for journalists, 19 including ending the enforcement of draconian laws 20 that restrict the freedom of expression and releasing 21 all journalists imprisoned for fulfilling their profes-22 sional responsibilities;
 - (2) press freedom is a fundamental human right and should be upheld and protected in Burma and everywhere; and

- 1 (3) to lock up journalists harkens back to the
- 2 days of military junta rule.
