Hi all -

I spoke with the museum and got more information about the incident. The Acton community is buzzing about it and I imagine the museum will be getting media inquiries in a matter of time.

The lead protestor is a woman named Michelle Efendi who has tried to break into the state house before and is a known aggressor of Mayor Wu's.

Are folks available to hop on a call today so I can share more information?

I think we also need to figure out how to help our mobile vendors prepare for future incidents, as it doesn't seem like this protestor group is specific to Acton. As they were leaving, they shouted "see you again!"

The museum CEO is Neil Gordon and can be reached at [REDACTED].

Secretary and team,

There was a protesting incident last night at our Discovery Museum clinic in Acton that the police were involved in. Please see summary below.

I will get more information and circle back. Caroline/Kayla, is there any media on this?

Tami,

We wanted to make you aware of an incident that broke out tonight at the Discovery Museum that the police were called in. Just in case this becomes Public knowledge.

Please see the email below from our site leader.

Simply wanted to ensure you were aware of this incident.

>> At approximately 6pm I heard yelling from outside the discovery vaccine clinic. There were about 6 protesters with signs and megaphones yelling at people as they entered the museum. I went outside to ask museum staff if police were called. As I was walking back to the clinic area, I witnessed an altercation between a male protester and another male. The male grabbed the sign of the male protester , the male protester began to strike the man on the head with the megaphone. The male shoved the male protester on to the ground. The male protester sprayed what appeared to be pepper spray at the other male. While being pepper sprayed the male hit a female protester in the arm. Police arrived on scene. No one from the clinic was injured. Clinic staff were advised to remain inside.
